Employee Name(s): Matt Slough and Joel Lara

Superintendent: Joe Gonzales

Company: Infinity Construction Services, LP

Matt and Joel were in the first phase of getting a reactor ready to open after receiving a permit when they noticed smoke coming from the bottom of a reactor manway. They did not assume it was just another “process”, but notified Operations. Operations responded and determined that if Matt and Joel had not notified someone it could have potentially been a fire and caused a much larger problem. Thanks to the both of you for being persistent and not assuming everything was fine. Your actions and willingness to report a concern to prevent something that could have been much worse.

Joe Gonzales – Infinity Construction Services, Superintendent
